New Intramural Sport For Spring?
Coach Bedwell Nixes Streaking

Wide Array Of Sports Grace Spring Intramural Calendar

With spring a variety of activities come out to help drain off the abundance of energy that the winter has stored inside us all.

The Armstrong Intramural Department will do its best to further the cause of spring with a wide variety of offerings for competition during the spring quarter. A tennis tournament, a golf tournament, a swimming meet, a free throw tourney, a putt-putt tournament, track and field, and a men's half-rubber league, in addition to the team sports of softball and co-ed bowling, are the offerings of the ASC Intramural Department for the busy spring quarter.

Tennis Tournament

If tennis is your game or if you just enjoy playing tennis, the intramural tennis tournament should interest you. There will be several different tournaments conducted at the same time. There will be singles and doubles competition for men and women with two divisions in each category. One division will be for "advanced" players and the other division in each category will be for "novices."

The tennis tournament will have round-robin competition. Entry deadline for the tournament will be Friday, March 29. Competition will begin on Sunday, March 31. Matches are scheduled at different times with emphasis placed on the week-ends.

As with all intramural sports, all students and faculty are eligible for competition in the tennis tournament. Organization intramural points will be given for tennis.

Golf Tournament

Golf tournaments for both men and women will be held during the spring quarter at the Hunter Golf Course. The tournaments are scheduled for April 9, 11, and 12 with nine holes played each day. The entry deadline will be April 9. Tee off times will begin at 3:30 p.m. but people with class conflicts will be given the later tee off times.

The golf tournaments will be flighted allowing players of limited ability the chance to compete against players with similar abilities. A total of 27 holes will be played and the tournaments will be flighted after 18 holes. Winter rules will be played, allowing a player to better his lie in the fairway. There is a possibility that unofficial mini-tournaments and blitzes may

Three Spring Team Sports Set

The spring intramural program will feature team competition in three separate sports. George Bedwell, Director of Intramurals at Armstrong, has scheduled team competition in men's softball, women's softball and co-ed bowling league for the spring quarter.

"We will offer the students a wide array of sports during the spring quarter and I anticipate strong interest to be shown for each sport offered, especially the team sports," remarked Coach Bedwell. "I think we will have a sport for almost everyone and I hope to have a large turnout of students and faculty."

Men's Softball

One of the most competitive and enjoyable of the intramural spring sports offerings is the men's softball league. Entry deadline for teams for the men's softball league will be Thursday, March 28 with competition set to get underway on Sunday, March 31.

The league will be divided into divisions to enhance competition. Each division will be played by slow-pitch rules with ten players in the game for each team. A team's roster will be limited to 20 players. This year's varsity baseball players will not be eligible for competition.

Most games will be played on Sunday afternoon with some games played during the week at the 12:30 period or afternoons. Games will be six innings unless one team has a 15-run lead after four innings. Games played at the 12:30 period will not have an inning start after 1:15 unless there is an agreement between the two coaches.

Each team is required to pay a $10 deposit which will be refunded if the team doesn't Armstrong will host the First Annual Georgia Collegiate Intramural Sports Championships on April 19 and 20. Every school in the University System of Georgia is invited to the affair, which will consist of golf, badminton, tennis and bowling.

Both graduate and undergraduate students are eligible, but no student with any experience on either a junior or senior college athletic team will be allowed to participate in that same sport. There will be a faculty division in tennis, golf and badminton. The different tournaments will be as follows: golf—18 holes, separate men and women's divisions; tennis—men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, and faculty men and women's singles and doubles; badminton will be the same as tennis; bowling—men and women's tournament team event, 3 singles, and 4 doubles. Each school will be limited in the number of people they can enter in an event.

In the golf section, 18 holes of medal play (stroke play) will be played at Hunter Army Golf Course, with tee-off time at 11 a.m. on Friday, April 19. Each school will enter the top four men and top four women from their intramural program to compete in their respective divisions.
